Workshop on AI Frontiers

The Department of Computer Applications, Vignan's Foundation for Science, Technology & Research (VFSTR), organized two one-day workshops for BCA and MCA students on 12 October 2026. The workshop, titled "AI Frontiers: Prompt Engineering and Emerging Technologies," aimed to familiarize students with the latest AI technologies and their applications in academic learning, software development, research, and task automation.

The sessions covered Generative AI, Large Language Models (LLMs), effective prompt design, prompt refinement, and advanced prompting techniques. Demonstrations showcased the use of AI tools for content generation, summarization, programming assistance, data analysis, research, and problem-solving.

Students were also introduced to Agentic AI and AI agents, goal-oriented planning, tool usage, workflow automation, multimodal AI, Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG), and AI-powered productivity tools.

The workshop emphasized the responsible and ethical use of AI, highlighting data privacy, the verification of AI-generated outputs, and the importance of human oversight. Interactive sessions and practical demonstrations helped students understand real-world applications and encouraged them to explore innovative AI-based projects and solutions. Overall, the programme enhanced students' understanding of Generative

AI, Agentic AI, prompt engineering, and emerging technologies while fostering practical skills relevant to academic and professional environments.

The workshop was organized by Mrs. R. Naga Sirisha and Dr. R. S. Padma Priya, Assistant Professors, Department of Computer Applications.

Dr. N. Veeranjanyulu, Professor and Head, Department of Computer Applications, felicitated the resource persons. The technical sessions were delivered by Mr. Atul Dubey and Mr. Sai Ganesh Sangal from the Schovia AI Club, Bengaluru.

The programme concluded with a vote of thanks to the resource persons, faculty members, organizers, and student participants for their valuable contributions and active participation.

Hamesha Suraksha

The Vignan Institute of Agriculture and Technology (VIAT), School of Agriculture and Food Technology (SAFT), VFSTR, Vadlamudi, organised a guest talk on the “Hamesha Suraksha” Initiative for Farmers’ Safety on 10 October 2026 for Final Year and Third Year B.Sc. (Hons.) Agriculture students.

The session was delivered by Dr. A. Appala Raju, Manager (R&D – South), Hyderabad, who highlighted safe pesticide handling, adherence to label instructions, recommended application practices and the use of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) to minimise exposure to hazardous chemicals. He emphasised the responsibility of agricultural professionals in promoting safe plant protection practices among farming communities.

A major highlight was a live demonstration of PPE, familiarising students with essential protective equipment and its proper use during pesticide spraying operations. The programme was coordinated by Dr. Amarnath and Dr. Harisha N, Assistant Professors, under the guidance of Dr. M. Chandra Surya Rao, Head of the Department and Interim Dean, SAFT. The initiative reinforced students’ understanding of pesticide safety and farmer welfare.
